Faneuil Hall Marketplace: 1742 To Date

Wire: RAM Press International

Boston is proud of its past and present. It has long been recalled as a significant cornerstone of the founding, creation, and growth of our nation. Its cobblestone paths reflect the past presence of many celebrated people, including Adams, Longfellow, Franklin, Revere, Holmes and Kennedy. It has been and still is considered to be a significant factor in education, medicine, politics, and business.

And Faneuil Hall Marketplace is a cornerstone of Boston. Its origin dates back to 1742 when the wealthy merchant Peter Faneuil (pronounced Fanel) dedicated Faneuil Hall to the City to accommodate the need for a marketplace and meeting hall created by the City's growth.

In 1805, the renowned Boston architect Charles Bulfinch, enlarged and rebuilt the Hall, adding a third floor.

In 1826, as a result of the commission by the City of Boston, three new buildings were opened to accommodate Boston's trade. The buildings were designed by Alexander Parris. The central building, Quincy Market, was named after Boston's Mayor Joshiah Quincy and was paralleled by the North and South Market buildings.

By 1964, the marketplace buildings had deteriorated to the point of condemnation.

Only as the result of much creative, convincing, and determined efforts has the area been renovated into its present state. Mr. Benjamin Thompson, an architect from Cambridge, is credited for having the insight and creative imagination to originate the significant renovation project.

The development was performed by the Rouse Company of Maryland, Delaware, now famous for its professional involvement in projects of this nature.

Lastly, credit is to be given to the political elements which played a significant role. This includes the Boston Redevelopment Authority and Mayor Kevin White.

Today Faneuil Hall Marketplace is an area attracting tourists from all continents, Boston natives, and business people. Its commercial success is the envy of many major downtown areas and many cities have sought to follow its lead in revitalizing.

The Market offers food, drink, dining, shopping and specialty items of all kinds. Its unique ambiance adds an element that makes a visit or revisit truly entertainment sought and enjoyed by all.

BOSTON: AROUND TOWN

"A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid." Boston, set on three hills, cannot escape notice; she has never attempted to do so.

The geographical center of Boston is in Roxbury—at the corner of Westminster and Walnut Avenues, if one cares to be precise. Due north of the center we find the South End. This is not to be confused with South Boston, which lies directly east from the South End. North of South Boston is East Boston and southwest of that is the North End.

SOUTH END. It is considered by many to be a much maligned district. There are many homes of Boston's solid citizens. However, there are also numerous business concerns and major health centers, but, to many Bostonians, crime, poverty, and the location of Boston's skid row in the area have overshadowed the South End's charm.

BACK BAY. Diverse Back Bay is the cultural center of the city. It is also Boston's major student stronghold. If your interests lie in the arts or education, a visit to the years many homes have been turned into apartments and condominiums, but the quality of "The Hill" does not change appreciably. Much of the region has been designated a National Historic Landmark to safeguard "update" by entrepreneurs. The magnetic appeal of "The Hill's" ancient streets and hidden courtyards continues to attract residents who respect its charm.

NORTH END. In Colonial days, the home of the leaders of social affairs, in military matters, and in religion. In the latter part of the nineteenth cen-

CHINATOWN. Is located as are most Chinatowns, right in the heart of the business district. Excellent restaurants, interesting curio shops, street signs in Chinese, and decorative phone booths and streetlights are features which greet the visitor. There are also noodle plants, bean-sprout factories, and firms making soybean cake to provide the staples for the residents. A Chinese drugstore stocks sea horses, snake jelly, ground tiger bone, dried bat skins, and other wonders of the Oriental Pharmacopoeia.

HOMECOMING

Saturday, October 4th was a beautiful sunny day. It was a perfect day, weatherwise for a Homecoming. The band, majorettes, and cheerleaders did a superb job building up the crowds enthusiasm for both the game and the highlight of the afternoon. The Homecoming Queen and her court were named. This year's honors went to first runner-up: Sue Emerson; second runner-up: Karen McCarthy, and Queen: Paige McCracken.

After a 22-0 win over Hingham, the M.H.S. students all attended the Homecoming dance sponsored by the Key Club. At the dance, the King and his princes were named. Dave Kolar was second runner-up, Ken Robinson was first runner-up, and the King . . . John Hatfield. Flowers and gifts were presented to the entire Homecoming Court. Semifinalists were also honored. They were: Karen Carbone, Cheryl Weston, Paul Williams, and John MacNeil. All had a great time at the dance.

MR. THOMAS MCMAHON

Although a somewhat imposing figure, Mr. MacMahon has always been a favorite of the Class of 1987. We will never forget the current event discussions, double standard lectures or the attacks on liberal ideals. The Class of 1987 thanks Mr. MacMahon for dedicating himself to his profession and endowing us with the power of "right" reason. We proudly dedicate this yearbook to Mr. MacMahon.

DEDICATION

MRS. LINDA STRANZL

Mrs. Stranzl epitomizes the teacher who takes a geniuine interst in her students. Her rapport with her students, especially those in the Class of 1987, is unsurpassed. We will remember Mrs. Stranzl's willingness to give up her own time to tutor or talk with students who needed help. It is with pride that we dedicate this yearbook to Mrs. Stranzl.

Thank You Mrs. Holmes . . .

Mrs. Holmes is the finest advisor a class could hope to have. Her genuine enthusiasm and unlimited creativity has inspired all of us throughout our four years at MHS. If a problem arises, Mrs. Holmes is always willing to talk and talk and talk . . . Seriously, her ability to transform a negative situation into a positive one has made our class the success that it is today. Her willingness to give of herself has made the class of 1987 one to remember.

SPORTS
Sports roundup
By Mike Berger
Mariner Staff
There's a team at Marshfield High School sporting a 12-0 undefeated record with only two matches left in the season.
It's not football, soccer, cross country or field hockey.
The boys golf team, coached by Dennis Zicko, sits atop the six team Old Colony League with an unblemished record.
The top four golfers are E.J. Doyle, Mark Green-laugh, Dave Varney and Sean Lamb. The top four golfers are averaging a below 40 average for nine holes.
Other team members are Steve Lopes, Bill Mc-Intyre, Dan Conway and Kay Hayes.
In the spring by virtue of their record the MHS golfers will enter the state tournament matches through individual scores.
Coach Zicko isn't surprised by the tremendous fall season. The team did as equally well in the spring and Coach Zicko knew many of his top golfers would be returning for the fall season.
The six-team Old Colony League includes Silver Lake, Bridgewater-
Raynham, Taunton and Marshfield.

Rams lose a tough game
By Matt Baron
Mariner Correspondent
If football is indeed a game of inches, then the MHS football program has been getting the short end of the stick for years.
Sixth-year head coach Lou Silva's 3-6-1 mark after 1981 is misleading—the Rams have been more competitive than those numbers would suggest.
To wit: Last season's 6-6-1 team very easily could have reversed that record with an inch here or an inch there. Context does, however, mean nothing.
"We will do better than last year," Silva says. "I can guarantee you that much."
Last season is forgotten. Adds senior co-captain Jon Paquet who along with co-captains John Hatfield and Peter Rocha plans to back Silva's guarantee with affirmative action.
"I haven't seen a better group of guys in my years coaching," praises Silva. "They've just been absolutely terrific."
The coach notes that the captains' attitude has set the tone for the entire squad. They are not having a losing season," he says. "They are going to work to make themselves better."

The Drama Club was pleased to have another fine year. Once again our audiences continued to increase in numbers. Under the swell leadership of Jason Altieri, president, Greg Palmer, Vice President, Robin Walker, Roberta Wright, and Jill Coletta, we took on and produced a passible facsimile of Charles Dicken's A Christmas Carol. From there, an evening of One Ax Followed: featuring the student direction of Roberta Wright, Julie Unis, Jen Matulewicz, and Jason Altieri. The year was rounded out with our musical production of Anything Goes that had the students and the audience laughing, crying, and seeking asylum.

In this parting rememberance we would like to thank and wish good tidings to the graduating seniors: Stephanie Baker, Peter Hayes, David Leahy, Jennifer Matulewicz, Erinn McCarty, Michael Roth, Julie Unis, Robin Walker, and Jason Altieri.

We look forward to another year of continued support. If you haven't seen a production, check it out, and be amazed (maze, labrynth, lost, confusing).

THE FAIRVIEW INN

133 Ocean St. Brant Rock
834-9144

The Inn

Build in 1874 by Martin Swift, the Fairview has been in continuous operation ever since. Originally established as a boarding house for Boston's vacationing elite, the Fairview has undergone many changes during it's one hundred plus year history. During the 1920's and 30's the building was home to the exclusive and elegant "Como Club". Here patrons began the evening by dining to the music of strolling violinists, and later retired to the gambling tables at the rear of the restaurant.

Legend has it that the club was named for the ship Como which sailed the east coast running rum during the prohibition. The entrance to a tunnel from the ocean, through which contraband liquor was smuggled into the club can still be seen in the basement. The ocean side entrance to the tunnel has long since collapsed. Incidentally, over the fireplace in the lounge is a painting of the legendary "Como" done in 1933 by Allen Davidson.

Over the years the Fairview has become famous for it's wholesome, hearty food and picturesque location. As always, all meals are prepared to order from the finest available ingredients.

Both the dining room and the lounge are open year round with the added attraction of a sun deck or warm days and a fireplace for cooler nights. We hope you have an enjoyable meal. We appreciate any comments you might have.

Thank you for your patronage.
